

Words worth sharing

Jordyn Zimmerman

Short Abstract

Access to words has the power to transform our connection and experiences with the world. In this interactive keynote, Jordyn Zimmerman, a passionate educator and advocate, will share her lived experience of gaining access to robust communication at age 18. Through stories and discussion, Jordyn will break down some of the barriers to communication access and provide you with necessary insight to impact your own community.

Long Abstract

Access to words has the power to transform our connection and experiences with the world. In this interactive keynote, Jordyn Zimmerman, a passionate educator and advocate, will share her lived experience of gaining access to robust communication at age 18. Through stories and discussion, Jordyn will break down some of the barriers to communication access and provide you with necessary insight to impact your own community.